Throng Visit Bier Of Siamese Twins

Post-Mortem Examination Shows Physiological Affinity of Sisters Was Very Close.

CHICAGO, April 4.—The bodies of Rosa and Josef Blazek, the "Siamese twins," who died here last week, have been offered to a medical university in Prague, their native city, and may be exhibited in a museum there. It is hoped this arrangement can be made in the interests of science. Pending advices from the Czech-Slovakian university, the burial plans here have been halted. Today, for the first time, the public was permitted to view the bodies, and the undertaking establishment where they lie was thronged all day, chiefly by women.

The parentage of Franz, the 12-year-old boy, is now the subject of a dispute, upon the outcome of which depends the disposition of the $200,000 estate left by the twins. X-ray experts who have photographed the bodies say it would be impossible for either the sisters to have given birth to a child except by a Caesarean section, and there is no trace of such an operation.

Doctors who made a post-mortem examination Saturday, declare Josef was the true mother. Records in Europe are expected to prove this.

Other physicians who examined the twins in their last illness to determine whether they could be separated said that Rosa was fully developed, but that Josef was not. The X-ray photographs show the sisters had joint lower stomach and bladder. They had also a community spine, which was in the form of the letter U, with no endings at the bottom. This discovery proves they could not have been cut apart without causing the death of both.

The manager of the twins has filed a claim for $400 against their estate. Their brother, Frank, the son of Franz and the personal maid of the twins insist that the estate shall also pay their fare back to Czechoslovakia. These claims complicate the question as to whether the estate of the sisters shall be probated here or in Czechoslovakia. Although frequently urged to do so, the twins never made a will. They had sent most of their money back to Czechoslovakia, and own a fine farm in that country.

Headquarters Of Strike Transferred To New York City

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 5.—National headquarters of the coal strike was transferred yesterday upon the arrival of John J. Lewis, president of the miners, to use every effort to speed up anthracite wage negotiations.

LEAVES FOR TERRE HAUTE.

G. W. Pruitt, who has been here on account of the death of his son, G. W. Pruitt, Jr., leaves today for Terre Haute, Ind., to which place he has been transferred from Wheeling, W. Va. He will take charge of a life insurance company at that place.

Mrs. W. L. Turner who has been at the General hospital, is reported much better and has been moved to her home on Gray street.

Negro Held For Grand Jury On Two Charges

Two warrants against Herman Waddill, colored, one charging house-breaking and the other felonious shooting, were heard in the Mayor's court, while awaiting arraignment, both cases were sent to the grand jury. The negro had admitted, the police say, entering the home of John Henry Bowman, also colored, and taking a watch and a razor. He denies stealing a pocketbook which Bowman claims was also taken.

Bowman's house was entered during the nighttime, several weeks ago, entrance being effected by the breaking of a window. Waddill was seen on the same morning between midnight and day by Police Officer Jim Cook who arrested him on the shooting charge. In the meantime Police Detective J. N. Campbell was investigating the robbery. When he returned to the courthouse he learned that Waddill had been arrested and that a railroad watch and razor had been taken from him. The number of the watch given the officer by Bowman and the one taken from Waddill tallied and the house-breaking charge was dropped against him. Waddill had not stated who made it.

After this case was disposed of, Waddill was tried for shooting Herbert Spencer on March 5. This case was also sent to the grand jury. Spencer claims that he knew of no reason why Waddill shot him. He says some one placed some clothing which he believed to have been stolen under his house and he had started to the police station with the articles when Waddill encountered him at the gate and demanded him to "throw away the gun." Waddill did not do so and Waddill fired a revolver, the bullet taking effect in the right side of the chest. However, Waddill contends Spencer was going to tell the police that he stole the goods. Several witnesses were heard.

Portsmouth Senator Very Ill In Hospital

PORTSMEUTH, April 4.—Senator W. C. Corbett, representative of Portsmouth in the upper branch of the legislature for eight years, is ill in a Philadelphia hospital with slight chance of recovery.

Advices brought from Philadelphia today by Clarendon Williams, a close personal friend, who was called to Senator Corbett's bedside last Thursday, are to the effect that as a result of a nervous collapse following an surgical operation, the senator's life is dependent on the doctors: Mrs. Corbett is with her husband.

Senator Corbett left Portsmouth a week or ten days ago in company with his wife for Philadelphia to have a cataract removed from his eye. The operation was performed the early part of last week, and following it, Senator Corbett had a dangerous collapse. It was at first feared that he would die almost immediately. He rallied slightly, however, and on Thursday Mr. Williams received a message calling him to Philadelphia. On his return today, he said the physicians held out slight, if any, hope for Senator Corbett's life.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 5.—Preparations have been made to launch three separate investigations of events surrounding the death of Lieutenant Colonel Paul Ward Beck, pioneer army aviator and assistant commandant of the post field at Fort Sill, who was killed by Jean P. Day, wealthy oil operator and prominent Oklahoma attorney, at the latter's home early yesterday when, according to Day, he found Beck struggling with Mrs. Day.

Court authorities are to determine today the charges to be filed against Day. A military commission of the post field is expected here Friday to probe the killing. The State prohibition director began to check up today to ascertain whether liquor was involved in the party preceding the killing. A coroner's inquest is scheduled for Saturday.

Investigate Death Of Pioneer Flier

Lieutenant-Colonel P. W. Beck Killed by Wealthy Oil Operator at Latter's Home.

Pigs Perish By Million Through Lack Of Foods

(By The Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 5.—

Pigs valued at over fifty million dollars died this spring as result of diseases resulting from insufficient vitamins in food, according to J. S. Hughes and H. B. Winchester, of the Hughes Agricultural college, in a report presented to the biological section of the American Chemical Society.

Miners Consider Strike As Holiday

(By The Associated Press)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 5.—

Suspension of operations in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania is hailed by the average miner as an opportunity for vacation, and most of them are planning thoroughly to enjoy the holiday. The younger men have turned to athletics as a means of breaking the monotony. Others are planning long fishing trips, many having left on visits to their old homes in Europe. Ninety per cent are buying round-trip tickets, expecting to return to work at the end of the strike.

Warehousemen At South Boston Today

(Special to The Bee)

SOUTH BOSTON, April 5.—A large delegation of Virginia tobacco warehousemen is on hand here today to meet Tucker C. Watkins, director of warehouses for the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Marketing Association. The business session began at 1:30 in Princess Theatre and it was expected that it would last until late in the afternoon. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss terms of sale or lease of warehouse property in Virginia for the new organization. Nearly all of the smaller markets are said to be represented here.

Returned Missionary Will Make Address

Dr. Royal J. Dye, traveler, explorer and student of primitive peoples, who was a medical missionary of the Disciples of Christ to the Belgian Congo, will give a illustrated lecture at the Jefferson Avenue Christian church Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Dye is on a prolonged tour, seeking to regain his health, and has appeared before hundreds of conferences and conventions.

Dr. Dye did a remarkable piece of work in the heart of Africa and had many thrilling experiences and narrow escapes. He worked among the savage head hunters and the primitive people of the upper Congo. He cured diseases, performed surgical operations, gave the people an alphabet, laid the foundations of Lunkundo literature, and read hundreds of the people to know and love "the white man's God."

The great church at Boileau, Africa, made up exclusively of converts from heathendom and led by Dr. Dye, sends out one native missionary for each ten members. All the members of that church thine their incomes.

There will be a children's chorus with orchestra accompaniment, and a set of interesting slides will be shown. The occasion is purely educational and inspirational.

Status Maintained In Cunningham Case

No disposition has been made of the case involving W. E. Cunningham who has been in jail since the night of an assault on Mrs. Cunningham, who was twice shot and lightly wounded. A preliminary hearing has been waived and unless issue proceedings are initiated the present status will be maintained until May when the grand jury meets. No effort has been made to secure Cunningham's release on bond. It became known today that Mrs. Cunningham and her daughter plan leaving Danville at the end of the present trial for New York where, it is said, they propose to live with Mrs. Cunningham's brother, their present plan being to return for the trial should this be ultimately decided on instead of summary proceeding.

Mrs. John James is seriously ill at her home on Green street as result of the shock experienced upon the news of the death of her brother, E. K. Jones.

Eight In One Family Killed At Belfast

BELFAST, April 4.—Bernard McMahon, eldest son of Oscar McMahon, head of the Belfast Catholic family, seven members of which were shot by a band of men who forced their way into the McMahons' home the morning of March 24, died today. McMahon himself and four of his sons died on the day of the shooting, and the death of Bernard McMahon adds the sixth victim from this family to the list.

LAST PUBLIC FUNERAL OF AMERICAN SOLDIER

Muffled drum. Half step. Heads uncovered. Admiral. And General. And thousands of all walks of life. Thus the last public funeral of an American boy who died in the World War was held in Brooklyn. The body of Charles W. Graves, Rome, Ga., represented all of the 1,065 bodies in the last shipment of American dead from Flanders' poppy fields.

Plans Are Made For Extensive Local "Clean Up Week"

The health committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the city health officer, and the representatives of several local civic organizations held a meeting yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of getting plans under way for the observance of "Clean-Up Week" in Danville. The original date set was for April 17th, but it has now been changed to April 24th.

This year the campaign is to be something more than the mere removal of collections of rubbish. It is to include a "paint up" week undertaken by the Young Men's Business Club and the stimulation of community pride in the aspects of the city. The beautification of town lots and the "sprucing up" of front and back yards is to be included in the plan and it is hoped to have the active interest and support of numerous civic organizations.

As the cleaning up of the community has a direct bearing on the fly, mosquito and rat nuisance, the undertaking promised to be far greater momentum than that held in other years.

Especial efforts will be made to interest school children, and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is offering two prizes of five dollars, one of these to go to the writer of the best essay on the subject from children in the sixth and seventh grades, and the other to the High school pupil who designs the best poster bearing on the subject.

Major Joseph B. Anderson, who represented Danville in the House of Delegates, has been appointed chairman of a local committee to secure subscriptions which will be sought in order that the state of Virginia may acquire the Hall farm in Prince William county, a 700-acre tract, over which burst the full fury of the first and second battles of Manassas.

Owners of the farm have set a fair price for it, $30,000, about $15,000 of which has been raised, leaving $15,000 still to be secured. The General Assembly notwithstanding the heavy endorsement which was given the project from every corner of Virginia failed to make an appropriation of $10,000 to that end and now the promoters of the movement are seeking various members of the General Assembly to act as chairmen of local committees.

Major Anderson said today that by spreading this committee throughout Virginia, the amounts to be asked of each locality would be small. He is hoping to raise about $200 in Danville and he has already been promised several small sums.

The plan is to make the Manassas field for the south what Gettysburg is to the north, in other words, to make a part out of it, where the valor of the men and women of the Confederacy can be commemorated. The battleground is so well defined that it will be possible to place markers here and there denoting some episode in the two battles which actually took place on the spot. The plan has the heartiest endorsement of the government and many leading Virginians.

South Boston Given Berth In Bi-State League

Orphanage Effects Will Be Auctioned

At a meeting of the directors of the Bi-State Baseball league held in Reidsville several days ago, the suggestion that South Boston become a member of the league, was unanimously accepted and that town will be represented this season. This comprises a six club circuit for the Bi-State league. South Boston had a representative present at the meeting.

The season will begin on May 1 and September 4 Labor Day. Four weeks will be played. There will be a series of two games in each town with double headers on holidays.

The meeting was a very spirited one and the directors are highly pleased with prospects for the coming season. Various matters were brought up.

Organization under Judge Landis' jurisdiction was mentioned but the proposal was finally abandoned for various reasons.

Council To Be Asked To Invite Lady Astor Here

The Wednesday Afternoon club has presented a request to the city council which will be read at its forthcoming meeting on Friday week this urging the city fathers to send a cable message to Viscountess Astor in England inviting her to come to Danville, the city of her birth and to remain here the guest of the city during her coming tour of America. It is believed that Lady Astor will most certainly visit Danville during her tour to renew old time acquaintances and to revisit childhood scenes.

Hammers Used to Break Cement from Dead Body

NORFOLK, Va., April 4.—When the body of Senator Yancey of Peru, who died at sea last week on the German steamer Radames, was brought here it required twelve men to lift it, as it had been enclosed in cement. The cement had to be broken with hammers and removed piece by piece. The body was being held here pending instructions.

The Radames came here for coal and it was reported that when the senator died a box had been built and filled with soft cement. The body was placed in the cement, while more was added. The box was then sealed and remained so until delivered here.

The senator, who was 60 years of age, was bound to Colon in a German port. His death, according to a physician's certificate, was due to heart trouble and Bright's disease.

Democrats Win In Missouri

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 5.—Frank H. Cromwell, Democrat, and the rest of his ticket were swept into office in the municipal elections. Jefferson City Democrats elected four or five candidates for aldermen. Returns from St. Joseph indicated the election of a Republican mayor and the rest of the ticket with two exceptions. Democrats elected mayors in Macon, Butler, Fulton, Carthage and Sedalia.

Great Britain Asks Interest On Debts

Council To Hold Budget Meeting At Country Club

The recent return from Europe of Col. A. E. Carrington, president of the city council has stimulated interest in the preparation of a city budget to be observed during the coming fiscal year which will begin May 1. Such a plan has long been advocated by members of the council and Strathmore J. Owen, chairman of the finance committee who is now recovering at the General hospital from a recent operation and who has done a good deal of preparatory work.

Colon Carrington has announced to members of the council that a meeting will be held at the Country Club on Friday night at which time supper will be served. This meeting, the letter of invitation indicates, is restricted to the nine members of the council, the superintendent of public utilities and the city auditor.

It is expected that the question of city finances will go into quite thorough and each council committee will present a well defined program of work proposed and prospective expenses. Every phase of the city's economic welfare will be gone into and in all probability a report will be presented to the council by the finance committee at next week's meeting of the council. The budget meeting

Large Crowds At Exposition Tuesday Night

The attendance last night at the Piedmont Exposition was more than the of Monday night, evincing the increasing interest in the exposition. The people came early and stayed late and took in all the varied attractions. Tomorrow will be Leakeville-Spray day at the fair, and several hundred people from that town are expected to attend.

The address last night was made by H. C. Ficklin who made a brief but appropriate talk on the section. During the course of his remarks he addressed to express his measurable surprise at the scope of the various exhibits at the exposition and to compliment the management for the success achieved.

Mrs. B. Frank Nebane, of Spray, N. C., will make an address this evening.

One development of the exposition which has been most gratifying to the exhibitors has been the large number of substantial sales that have been made by a number of the concerns that have booths at the exposition. A number of firms have more than paid all expenses attendant upon the displays at the exposition by the profit made on the sales. The exhibitors also rate not without appreciation of the value of the advertising gained through the exhibits.

Yesterday afternoon the boys of the Y. M. C. A. gave a series of gynastic stunts that attracted the attention of a large crowd and showed that the boys had been well trained for their work.

Dancing became a most popular attraction at the exposition last night. Music was furnished by Yarborough's band. A space was roped off for the dancers and many couples took advantage of the excellent music to trip the light fantastic.

The Style Show will be the big feature at the exposition today and is expected to draw many jades of the exposition. Elaborate plans have been made for the display of fashions by the merchants interested in this show. It is expected to be an outstanding success. The first fashion display will be made at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

CITY NIGHT SCHOOL WILL CLOSE THURSDAY

The 23rd session of the City Night School will come to a close Thursday night after one of the most successful years in its history. One hundred and sixty-five pupils were enrolled during the past session and the attendance throughout the year has been remarkably good. Nine teachers have been in charge of the various classes. Five or six different nationalities have been represented and the ages of the pupils have ranged from eight to 50 years.

NIGHT SCHOOL PUPILS INVITED TO EXPOSITION GIVEN FREE TICKETS

The management of the Piedmont Exposition has generously offered free admission to the pupils of the City Night School. Tickets can be secured at the rooms of the Night School on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Girl Confesses Coaxing Victim Into Thief Trap

NORFOLK, Va., April 5.—Thelma Collins, 18 years old, admitted in Justice Wright's court at Ocean View, Monday night, according to the statement of county officers, that she lured Charles Palmer, a Newport News baseball player, so that two male accomplices might rob him of a couple of diamond rings he wore.

Ernest Twiddy and Eddie Post, each aged 18, were arrested early at their homes in Brambleton and are being held for assaulting Palmer.

When arrested, Twiddy and Post admitted they had been at Ocean View but denied Palmer's charges. Palmer, who was with Detectives Bell, Morissette and Nowitzky when they made the arrest, identified the men as his assailants.

Palmer escaped from the scene of the assault to the home of naval petty officer named Davis, who accompanied him to Justice Wright's office. On the way, they met Miss Collins, and Davis insisted on her accompanying them to the office of the justice.

There she is alleged to have confessed her part in the attempted robbery and to have given information resulting in the arrest of the men charged with the assault.

Miss Collins was held as a Commonwealth's witness and will appear before the grand jury in the county court to testify against Twiddy and Post.

Hen Lays Eggs Right In Kitchen

YORK, Pa., April 5.—A pet Plymouth Rock hen, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Laucks, of Red Lion, delivers an egg a day, and has for several weeks, to the kitchen table of the Laucks home.

This pet chicken discovered the kitchen door ajar one morning, and she slipped in, flew up on the table, and, scratching together several pieces of paper, deposited a beautiful white egg. Then with flight notice, informed her mistress, who was in the yard hanging up clothes, the hen slipped from the house and went about her daily routine of gathering food.

Since her first effort, the door has been left open, and when Mrs. Laucks forgets to do so, the hen cackles for some member of the family to open the door. A cushion has been provided for a nest.

Col. Cunningham Dies At Raleigh

RALEIGH, N. C., April 4.—Colonel John Somerville Cunningham, age 61, for a generation one of the outstanding figures in the life of the state, died tonight following a critical illness of a week. The remains will be taken to the ancestral home of the Cunningham family in Person county tomorrow and the funeral will be held at 11 o'clock, conducted by the Rt. Rev. Joseph Blount Cheshire, D. D., bishop of the diocese of North Carolina.

CHEMISTS PERFECT A DE-NAUSEATED CALOMEL TABLET

Estains All Medicinal Virtues But Purified From Dangerous and Unpleasant Effects—Sold Under the Name "Calotabs."

Science has given us smokeless powder, wireless telegraphy, colorless iodine and tasteless quinine—now comes the good news for everybody that the pharmaceutical chemists have perfected a nauseated calomel that does all the work of the old style calomel without the danger, griping, nausea or sickening after-effects. After the most extensive and critical tastes, all of which proved eminently successful, the new tablet known as "Calotabs" is on sale at all drug stores. It prevents all of the system-purifying and liver-cleansing qualities of the old-style calomel, but is pleasant to take and entirely safe and delightful in its after-effects.

One tablet on the tongue at bedtime with a swallow of water, that's all: no taste, no nausea, no griping. The next morning you are feeling fine, liver-clean, appetite splendid, eat what you please—no dangers nor unpleasantness.

Beware of imitations. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in "checker-board (black and white) packages bearing 'Calotabs' the large, family size sells for thirty-five cents, each pocket size, ten cents. All dealers are authorized to refund the price if you are not delighted with Calotabs.—adv.

Joseph explained it wasn't that kind of a leg.

He limped over to a chair and laid the broom across his lap like a Hawaiian guitar while the police sent to Mr. Julia Snyder, in whose home Joseph boards. When she entered Joseph hated the Ukrainian Mazurka he was humming and inspected her blackly.

"There she is," he said bitterly.

"Leg stealer."

Mrs. Snyder walked briskly over to him.

"Well, I had to take something.

You have been living rent free and board free like a relative. You owe me $24 now, and you keep saying 'I forgot, I forgot.' Maybe, now I got your leg, you won't forget's quick."

After an extended cross-examination Joseph conceded the bill was due. Then he and Mrs. Snyder went into executive session and the bill was settled.

PANTALETTES TRIUMPH IN THE WORLD OF JUNIOR FASHIONS

MC CALL PATTERN COMPANY

TODAY the pantaloons, an old fashioned cousin, the bloomer, reign supreme in the world of little girls' fashions. They may slide down the banisters, climb fences, and kick up their heels generally, without any shocked maternal remonstrance. Their mothers may have achieved the vote, but 1922 little girls have gained something even more precious—sex equality with their small brothers and the freedom of the knees.

The long pantaloons that fluttered about the ankles of little girls in grandmother's day were rather dismal looking affairs, in spite of their ruffles. Their tendency was to make a little girl look overly sedate, like a long mere doxology.

His Wooden Leg Attached For Overdue Rent

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—Using a frayed broom as a crutch, Joseph Honarsky hobbled into the Second and Christian streets police station yesterday and began gesticulating in front of an astonished desk sergeant.

"Not only does she take my leg," he fulminated, "but she waits till I'm asleep to do it and takes $10 as well."

"You mean she 'pulled your leg?'" inquired the desk sergeant. "You don't have to use slang."

"I mean," replied Joseph firmly, "she took my leg off the chair, and while I was asleep, too."

The desk sergeant's air of interest deepened.

"Why leave your leg on a chair?" he wanted to know. "Why not keep it with the rest of you?"

Joseph explained it wasn't that kind of a leg.

He limped over to a chair and laid the broom across his lap like a Hawaiian guitar while the police sent to Mr. Julia Snyder, in whose home Joseph boards. When she entered Joseph hated the Ukrainian Mazurka he was humming and inspected her blackly.

Hold Husband Of Woman Whose Body Was Found

BALTIMORE, Md., April 4.—Edward T. Mercer, husband of Mrs. Ruth Mercer, whose mutilated body was found Sunday in the water of Chesapeake bay, at Ocean View, a resort near Norfolk, was arrested here early today and is being held for the Ocean View authorities.

A warrant charging him with the murder of his wife has been sworn out.

Mercury was arrested at the Buddie Club, where police found him in bed. He said he had been in Baltimore a couple of days.

He tried yesterday to enlist here in the coast guard.

The accused gave his age as 21 years. He said he had not been in Ocean View for three or four years.

A Lot Of Talk About This

The new auxiliary launch to the presidential yacht is 40 feet long, sumptuously outfitted and decorated and cost $45,000. George Christian, the president's secretary, refused permission for photographers to board the launch saying the magnificence of the launch had been "greatly exaggerated." This picture was snapped without permission.

Mother Fears "Slavers" Keep Girl a Prisoner

NEW YORK, April 5.—A woman riding on top of a Fifth Avenue bus the other day suddenly arose from her seat and shouted "Madge!" Then she hurried down the spiral stairway and attempted to alight while the vehicle was in motion.

The woman, whose actions attracted the attentions of the other passengers, chased after a brown-haired comely girl who was crossing Fifth Avenue at 110th street. She accosted this youngster, peered into the girl's face and then wept with disappointment. Several kind-hearted persons hurried to the woman's side.

"My daughter Marguerite or Madge, as we affectionately called her, has not been seen or heard from since Feb. 6 last," said the woman, who described herself as Mrs. Anna McCarthy, a widow, of No. 61 West 114th street. "Since she vanished mysteriously I have been searching through the city trying to get some trace of her. In my daily wanderings I've discovered that there are many girls greatly resembling my lost child. Time and again I've hurried to the side of some strange girl only to find she is not my Madge. I do not believe she would stay away if she were not detained; I pray constantly that she is not a victim of the 'white salvers.'"

Marguerite is 14 years old. She weighs 100 pounds, is five feet four inches tall and has blue eyes and light brown hair. She wears a black hat trimmed with cherries, dark navy blue coat, brown low cut shoes and tan stockings. Detectives of the missing persons bureau and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children are helping in the search.

The Young Men's Business Club's class in commercial law held its first meeting last evening in the club room at the Chamber of Commerce building. About 20 members of the club were enrolled. Harry Wooding, instructor of the class, had the course well outlined, and those members present entered into the subject with a great deal of enthusiasm and a determination to make the class a big success.

The class in salesmanship also held its first meeting, in spite of the fact that they are without an instructor. This class had an attendance of 18 young men last evening. They organized and elected following officers: J. I. Bowles, president; D. T. Phillips, vice-president, and Claude N. Higgins, secretary and treasurer. This class will meet again next Tuesday evening at which time it is hoped that

Congress to Move In Coal Strike

WASHINGTON, April 4.—A congressional effort at settlement of the coal strike, particularly as it involves the bituminous fields, was begun today when Chairman Nolan of the House labor committee was authorized to telegraph invitations to a number of representative operators and officers of operators' associations in the central competitive coal field to attend a meeting with the miners' union leaders in Washington April 10, and attempt to reach an agreement.

At the same time Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, took occasion to say in the Senate that "drastic public action" might be demanded, and to charge the operators with contract breaking in precipitating the strike. A possible divergence between the views of members of Congress and those of the administration, however, was seen when Attorney General Daugherty issued a statement that "the government is not undertaking to do anything in the present situation of the coal matter," declaring that "men have a right to quit work and men have a right to employ other men," that the public was not menaced with coal shortage, and that it was the duty of local authorities to maintain order.

The government would not look with favor upon coal price increases, Mr. Daugherty said, adding that he "saw no reason at this time to believe that disorder need be feared," but asserting that the government "will perform whatever may be its duty in the premises" of local and State agencies cannot maintain peace."

The House committee action came after its members had spent two days listening to discussion of the strike from the miners' viewpoint by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. Mr. Lewis assured the committee he would advise his associates to negotiate with any "representative group" of operators from the central field, which includes Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Western Pennsylvania, even though not all of the operators could be induced to deal again with the union. The union, he insisted, would not and could not settle the dispute in other states until this basis had been established for a national wage level.

The committee decided to appeal direct to the representative of operator groups in the states named, and Mr. Lewis tonight declared it had put forward a proposition worth considering.

During the hearings today Mr. Lewis defended the miners' union proposal to establish a six hour day and a five day week, one of the demands originally made, quoting as "absurd" a calculation by Representative Black, Democrat, Texas, that this would occasion an extra annual cost of $24,000,000 to the public for coal.

"However, if we discuss any of these demands around a council table with operators," Mr. Lewis added, "and practicability and reasonableness cannot be demonstrated for them, the demands will fall."

Discussing the history of wage negotiations, Mr. Lewis amplified the repeated charge that the bituminous operators of the central field had broken a "contract" with the "fighters" by failing to confer with its committees for a new wage scale before the strike. The fact he said in agreeing to a suggestion by Representative London, Socialist, New York, "really gave the strike all the aspect of a lockout."

Mr. Lewis said the "basic day wage" in coal mining under the present scale was $7.50 a day as compared with $2.84 in 1913 but the scale in the latter year, he added "was a pauper standard."

The House committee contemplated further inquiry into the coal industry with testimony from both operators and miners, and is expected to continue its hearings tomorrow.

NON-UNION MINES WORKING FULL SPEED

CHICAGO, April 4.—Reports received by the Illinois coal operators association from fourteen mining districts in sections of Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Virginia say that the non-union mines in those districts are working full speed, and are in no way affected by the strike. Dr. F. C. Honnold, secretary of the association announced today. He said reports that the non-union men were joining the strike in any numbers appear to be absolutely incorrect.

ANTHRACITE TIE-UP REMAINS COMPLETE

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 4.—The anthracite tie-up remained complete and absolute peace and quiet reigned in the Wyoming valley today. Local companies adjusted the dispute over the employment of exempted union maintenance forces and orders were issued that the placing of monthly men and petty mine bosses in their places was to cease.

Miners at Pittston at a mass meeting today voted loyalty to the union chiefs and denounced alleged radicals for the distribution of literature which it was claimed was aimed at causing dissension in the union ranks.

RUSSELL IS NOT SUSTAINED BY INQUIRY COM.

JACKSON, Miss., April 3.—Legislative investigation of charges made by Governor Lee M. Russell that certain fire insurance interests had maintained a "pernicious" lobby in Jackson incidental to the present session of the legislature and other allegations made by the state legislature passed into history today when the Mississippi House of Representatives adopted the report of its special committee of inquiry which held that the evidence assembled during nearly a month of hearings failed to substantiate the governor's charges.

The issues, brought to the floor of the House with the submission of the committee report, was decided by a vote of 60 to 20 on a motion to adopt the findings after a spirited debate and a fight by the minority to have the House report merely "received."

The committee in its report did not hold with the governor in any of his contentions, the findings asserting that the evidence disproved the allegations in each case on which the committee could reach a conclusion. On one point, reference by the governor to a damage suit filed against him by Miss Frances Birkhead, a former stenographer as a "suit of blackmail," the committee did not make a decision, the investigators explaining that their limited jurisdictional authority precluded an inquiry of sufficient scope to reach a determination.

Governor Russell declined to comment today on the report of the committee or the action of the House.

WALL STREET IS ARMING ITSELF AGAINST BANDITS

NEW YORK, April 4.—Wall street is arming itself against bandits. During the last few months, between 10,000 and 12,000 bankers, brokers and other who handle money in the financial district have taken out permits for employees to carry revolvers according to police department records.

WOUNDED BY AFRICAN POISONED SPEAR

NEW YORK, April 3.—Wounded by poison-tipped spear of African tribesmen, Miss Ursula Gillis, 24, was treated at Bellevue hospital today for badly infected foot. She explained that the injury occurred at the Manhattan home of Ida Vera Simonton African explorer, when the spear, a trophy, fell from the wall and its point pierced her shoe and caused a deep wound in the foot.

GOOD DISPOSITIONS BRING FAIRIES OUT, SAYS SHE

MRS. HILDA M. POWELL

BY ROY GIBBONS

CHICAGO, April 5.—Want a fairy in your home? Then hearken to Mrs. Hilda M. Powell, lecturer for the English-Welsh Theosophical Society, now touring this country.

Says she, all that is needed to attract fairies to anyone is a soft word or two spoken on a grassy knot, and possibly the flaring of a green skirt.

"Fairies," explains Mrs. Powell, who's drawing crowded houses in all the larger cities, "really do exist, and they appear to anyone whose disposition is right and who wears the proper attractive colors."

Myriads of converts are rallying round her fairy standard, influenced by the lecturer's personal magnetism, and perhaps, by sight of a number of photographs showing the sprites gamboling on the lea.

"Fairies usher the countryside," says Mrs. Powell, "away from the noise of big cities."

"Children, especially, are gifted, because they are able to see the unseen and to watch the unseen activities of sprites."

Mrs. Powell made her first stop-off in Chicago and when news of her visit and what she was here for spread scientists were amazed.

To the doubters she exhibited fairy photographs and defied even the most expert to prove that there was any fairy about them.

"Fairies are with us all the time," she says. "But in the big cities, because of the noise and racket, their strength is weakened, and they are consequently unable to render much attraction."

"But out in the quiet of the forest and park the fairies are in full life."

Explaining why children are best suited to gaze into the unknown fairy world, Mrs. Powell concludes by saying:

"Children dwell in a seclued atmosphere outside the pale of wickedness, or knowledge of it. As we grow older we drop away from this environment and so the fairies get away from us—or rather we from them."

REILY AFFAIRS GIVEN AIRING

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Controversies involved in the administration of Porto Rican governmental affairs by Governor E. Mont. Reiley were today given another airing in Congress.

Felix J. Coriova, Tarzana, resident commissioner of Porto Rico, reiterated in the House his demand for a congressional investigation of the official acts of Governor Reiley and declared "Reily is morally and mentally unfit to govern the island."

The other side of the controversy was laid before the Senate in a communication signed by Carlos Felton and Salvador Silvestre, Socialist members of the Juniors, Porto Rico, municipal assembly, extolling the governor "as a just and honorable administrator" and assailing his opponents. The communication was addressed to the president of the Senate and laid before that body in the regular procedure.

FRED L. TROMBLEY (ABOVE) AS HE LOOKED WHEN A SEATLE POLICEMAN, AND (ABOVE) A PICTURE FROM POLICE RECORDS THAT OFFICIALS SAY IS TROMBLEY.

SEATTLE, April 5.—On duty—a policeman.

Off duty—a burglar.

That was the schedule Fred L. Trombley, Seattle policeman, operated or if charges preferred against him by the Seattle police department are proved.

Shorn of his uniform, the alleged Jekill-Hyde policeman is awaiting trial in jail here.

His former police comrades charge:

THAT photographs and records prove Trombley was sentenced to the State penitentiary for grand larceny in 1909 and that he escaped.

THAT he served a jail sentence for petit larceny.

THAT he was sentenced to the State penitentiary for a $3,000 jewelry robbery.

In December, 1920, Trombley passed civil service examinations and became a temporary officer. Later he was admitted as a permanent member of the force.

Police charge he served at the same jail where he had formerly been held.

Meanwhile, Trombley devoted his time off duty to burglary, police say. He carried a police service revolver for police use and another weapon for his private use, according to the charges.

After an accident had brought to light Trombley's alleged criminal activities, he was seized when reporting at his station for police duty.

Uncle Sam Puts Concrete Roads First

No one has better facilities for determining the past performance of roads of all kinds in all parts of the country than the United States Government.

The Government approves the types of construction to which it will lend its aid, and in an overwhelming majority of instances it has approved Concrete.

Cooperating with the states, the Government has approved in the past five years expenditures totaling $229,000,000 for three kinds of pavement—Concrete, brick and bituminous. Of this, $184,000,000, or more than 80 per cent, has been invested in Concrete. That represents 79.3 percent of the mileage paved.

Any community that selects Concrete for its highway is fully sustained in its choice by the observation and experience of the Federal Government.

IS THERE A HIDDEN SCANDAL?

While President Harding is being severely assailed for his summary action in dismissing the Chief of the Bureau of Engraving and several employees "for the good of the service," ugly stories are being whispered around the capital, these tending to support the chief executive and his attitude. Congress has heard the cry raised by those who have been laid low by the axe and in the absence of anything like a clear explanation from the executive, the president is being openly charged with staging a partisan coup, ousting Democratic office-holders summarily for the benefit of Republican office-seekers. It is also being charged that the president's action is the greatest blow aimed at the civil service since it was inaugurated and one presaging its future uselessness and putting a federal service squarely on the "spoils system" basis.

It is hard, however, to believe that the president would make such a sweeping order as the one in question without some underlying strong motive. He must have known of the future which it would raise and he would have realized that he could ill afford the step for purely political reasons. An alleged exposé of the circumstances compelling the president to take the step is contained in a copyrighted article appearing in The Washington Times in which it is stated that affidavits supporting charges against the Bureau of Engraving personnel now banished had been in the hands of the government for over a year and that the failure on the part of the Secretary of the Treasury to act upon them had resulted in almost irresistible pressure being brought to bear. It is set forth that certain of the employees in the Bureau of Engraving visited members of the Senate and directing officials of the treasury department and demanded that action be taken threatening at the same time to release to the press of the country a story so sensational that it would seriously impair public confidence in the Treasury. It was soon after this ultimatum that the matter was taken to Harding who after making an investigation, issued the executive order making the change in the Bureau of Engraving over night. So immediate were the terms of custer that Director James Wilmett and more than a score of employees were notified that their positions would be filled on the following day. Just what was contained in the charges which the Washington Times says compelled the drastic action is not definitely known. The paper, however, adroitly calls to mind the story which once gained currency that Liberty Bonds which are made at the Bureau of Engraving are issued in duplicate and the survivor is further made that these duplicate coupons and bonds are being received periodically by the Treasury and, despite their spurious value they are being redeemed without question and without complaint.

It is possible that the hue and cry which is being raised in Congress may eventually result in a full and official expose of the motives behind the executive order. Curiously enough it is agreed that there are no charges at any of the men who have been stopped which only adds to the mystery.

Be Warned.

A man "butted in" at a waiting line before the railroad ticket window yesterday and the man who were in a hurry glowered. "I want a ticket for Boston," said the man, and he put 50 cents under the window.

"Well, then," asked the man, "where can I go for 50 cents?"

And each of the fourteen men in that waiting line told him.

Scoop's Column

DRAKES BRANCH, April 5.—(Grapevine Wireless)—Last day of the first half of the week, the sun is still shining and the amusement program goes merrily on. The exposition crowds are dancing nightly on the warehouse floor where the jazziest music this side of Atlantic City is being dished up with all the frills and variations. The Murphy Shows are going at full swing out at Gale Park since the mud has dried out and business is good in that neck of the woods. The picture shows are humming along just the same as if they had no competition, offering unusually good programs this week. As an added attraction the 29th Tank Company is giving a dance at the Municipal Hall tonight to raise money for baseball uniforms. It is also open season for joy-riding on the Ridge Road as well as gambling with the prohibition enforcement officers with their shot guns and rifles. This is almost too much excitement for the thirty Danville churches have mid-week services tonight where the faithful will gather regardless of all the worldly doings outside. Thus a scrambled population will unscramble itself according to inclination. Such is life!

TENT COLONY FOR STRIKERS WITHOUT FUNDS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 5.—Officials of the United Textile Workers of America announced today that they had obtained the use of a tract of land on the banks of the Pawtucket River containing more than 300 square feet as the site for a tent colony to house Blackstone Valley textile mill strikers who cannot pay rent.

The colony which will have in addition to tents for individual families, central hospital, dinning, cooking and entertainment tents, will be set up as soon as the weather becomes reasonably warm. It was said.

BEWARE OF OVER-PRODUCTION.

(Richmond News-Leader.) The logic of co-operative marketing, once grasped, is so apparent and so practicable and corrects such obvious evils that its limitations are not always seen. The farmer may reason that as the co-operative association can market 3,000 pounds of his tobacco at a better figure than he ever received before, the association can do equally well with a 10,000-pound crop. He may therefore be disposed to set out far more tobacco in the old days of private marketing.

This has happened; as everyone knows, time and time again in tobacco, in cotton and even in wheat. Give some farmers a good price for this year's crop and they will beat down next year's price by increasing their acreage. Each generation of farmers has cut its own throat. If they do the same thing now, the planters will be playing directly into the hands of the buyers. It will be human nature, at the outset, for the purchasers of the farmers' tobacco to test out the strength of the association, especially as many of the manufacturers have a surplus of the leaf in storage at this time. The next season may open late and be slow. If, in these circumstances, planters hold very large crops that have to be sold quickly, the resources of the association may be so taxed that the market will break badly. Should that happen, growers will not blame themselves, but the plan of co-operative buying in some instances may yield to the enemy. On the contrary, if the crop of 1922 is light, farmers may be assured of all the advantages of brisk demand plus all the benefits of wise marketing. The result will be financial strength to the association, encouragement to the farmer and the speedy ending of any campaign directed against the association.

Co-operative marketing cannot upset the law of supply and demand. That must be remembered. If the farmer is guilty of overproduction, not all the warehouses and all the credit of the strongest organization can save him from ultimate loss. The co-operative association must not be handicapped by foolish, greedy and selfish overproduction at the very beginning of what may be a wonderful career!

CANADA'S GROWTH

(Boston Transcript.)

Complete returns of the Canadian decennial census for 1921 show an increase of the population of the Dominion in that year to 8,755,400 from 7,206,431 in 1911, a gain of 1,567,969, or nearly twenty-two per cent. Every province of the Dominion has increased its population except Prince Edward Island and Yukon—the increase having been largest, naturally, in the western provinces, with the exception of Yukon, and smallest in the east. The rate of population in Canada in this period has been larger than that of the United States in the corresponding period, for the rate of increase in this country was but 14 per cent. between 1910 and 1920. However, the great disparity between the population of the two countries prevents anything that might be called a gain on the part of Canada upon the United States for the actual numerical increase in the United States in each decennial period is and has always been larger than the entire population of the Dominion at the time. Our numerical increase from 1910 to 1920 was 13,732,354. We are adding to our population every ten years a greater number of people than the entire population of the Dominion.

This growth of the Dominion, just the same, is most substantial, and it represents a genuine national unit. Canada has at this moment more room for growth than the continental United States and its undeveloped western regions are attracting settlers from our own Western States. A larger proportionate increase of population and wealth may be looked for in the present decade than in the last, since the war interrupted immigration, to a great degree, and the condition of over-population now prevailing in Great Britain cannot fail to stimulate emigration to Canada. Already the population of the Dominion is greater than that of the majority of European countries—greater than Holland, greater than Sweden, greater than Denmark, greater than Portugal, and nearly twice as great as that of either Scotland or Ireland.

"Ape Professors" Flayed By Bryan

Universities Should Not Tolerate Those Who Put Science Above Religion.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Clergymen, college professors and school teachers who trace their ancestry to Darwin's "monkey" rather than William Jennings Bryan's "mud" were assailed by Mr. Bryan yesterday afternoon, when he spoke to 6,000 persons in the Hippodrome under the auspices of the Tent Evangel Committee.

Prof. Edward Grant Conklin, of Princeton, Prof. James Henry Leuba, of Bryn Mawr, and Prof. William Bateson of London were selected by Mr. Bryan for special denunciation as prominent exploiters of a "gues sun-supported by facts" that is "undermining Christianity, society and government," so Mr. Bryan charged.

Their teachings might do in an atheistic university," he said, "but why should Christian universities tolerate professors who put science above religion? These people had better present their proofs instead of their contemptuous smiles and belittling language."

Prof. Leuba says belief in God and immortality is dying out among the educated—that one half the prominent scientists do not believe in either.

"He takes nine representative colleges and shows that only 15 per cent of the freshmen have discarded Christ, but the number of juniors grows to 30 per cent and of seniors 40 to 45 per cent. This is the influence of 'intellectual' men under whom these students get their instruction."

Prof. Collier contends that it is much more dignified to be descended from the monkeys than from mud. Well, I know all about mud, and I prefer mud."

After the applause had subsided, Mr. Bryan proceeded to attack ministers and teachers generally who spread belief in the Darwinian theory. He was demanding a revival of faith in a personal God when a man in the audience shouted for a definition with "name and address."

Mr. Bryan rushed to the edge of the stage amid cries of "Put him out!"

"No," shouted the Commoner. "I want to get them from under cover." And then, to the questioner, "If you don't believe in a personal God, don't you dare teach it! This is my audience and we are here to talk about God."

Roars of approval silenced further interruption.

"Recently," continued Mr. Bryan, "an evolutionist refused to eat lunch with me in Kentucky. If I can afford to eat with a man who says no is the son of an ape, what possible objection could he have to me?"

Hubert Work Is Doctor At Heart

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 3.—Because he is a physician himself, Dr. Hubert Work, postmaster general, sees a healthful movement among babies in the institution of the practice of weighing infants in the suburban resort districts near here in summer, and he has recommended that it be continued during the hot months this year.

Dr. Work can adequately perceive the benefits of the movement because of his profession, according to Postmaster E. A. Purdy, of this city, under whose orders the weighing began.

Began last summer in the Minneapolis-Minnetonka parcel post service, its success has been manifested.

Thousands of Minneapolis families move to the Lake Minnetonka district, where they abide in cottages distant from the business districts and clinics.

Young mothers, anxious to know the status of their babies as to weight, which aids in judging their health, had no adequate weighing devices available. When one fretful mother asked the driver of a parcel post truck to weigh her baby, which was reported to Postmaster Purdy, the latter ordered the weighing of the infant, declaring it one of the "humanizing" efforts of the postal administration.

Drivers of the truck now are mastering the art of handling the infants and promulgating rules of dress to enable the weighing of the tots on the "hook" scales attached to the truck.

Says His Wife Confessed Friendship With Another

NEW YORK, April 3.—An affidavit that his wife, Helen Potter McGovern, told him she had been intimate with the late Dan Hanna, of Cleveland, O., and had received a house and lot worth $50,000 and pieces of jewelry from the millionaire, was filed in the appellate division of the supreme court here by William McGovern.

McGovern, in his appeal against his wife's demand for alimony, pending settlement of their separation suit, said she confessed to him that previous to her first marriage she had received numerous gifts and attentions from Hanna.

Aids Wife, Charged With Plotting to Kill Him

MRS. AMELIA WHANN AND
EUGENE SANZ (INSET) CHARGED WITH CONSPIRING TO KILL
MRS. WHANN'S HUSBAND, DR.
JOHN WHANN.

KITTANNING, Pa., April 5.—Dr. Eugene Sanz, Mrs. Whann's wife, is on trial here. The State charges she plotted with Eugene Sanz, Cuban, to kill Whann.

Whann has heard the evidence.

"I have the fullest confidence in my wife," he says. "I'm certain she's always been faithful to me and I know she would never conspire to injure me in any way."

Sanz, who formerly lived at the Whann home testified in court here that he loved Mrs. Whann and that his affection was returned.

Sanz is 20. Mrs. Whann is much older.

The Cuban declared he and Mrs. Whann laid plans to take Whann's life.

Mrs. Whann denies all this. The defense declares Sanz's testimony is intended only to blacken Mrs. Whann's reputation—that advances of Sanz to Mrs. Whann were repulsed and he now is seeking revenge.

Testimony of Philadelphia detectives has strengthened the defense case. They say when Sanz was arrested in Philadelphia he confessed he attacked Whann in self-defense and that no one else was implicated.

HOPE NO CHANGE WILL BE MADE IN SUBSIDY BILL

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Enactment of the administration's ship subsidy bill without radical change is the hope of President Harding and shipping board officials. Chairman Lasker told members of the Senate commerce and House merchant marine committees at the opening session today of joint hearings on the measure.

Declaring that the shipping board "stands fast" for the general principles embodied in the program endorsed by the president, Mr. Lasker expressed the opinion that "any radical change in the proposals might result in the destruction of the whole."

After he had read a lengthy statement in which he contended that government operation not only had proved a costly failure, but also that private owners of the seas, the shipping board head became the target for a rapid fire of questions, most of them from Democratic members of the House committee. Frequent verbal clashes between Mr. Lasker and Representative Hardy, Texas ranking Democrat on the House committee, marked the cross-examination.

Quizzed by Representative J. E. Tamm, Democrat, Texas, as to the board's experience with ship operators, Mr. Lasker said he had a suspicion that new operators have purposely abused their operation privileges "to prove government operation a failure." The chairman added that he would not make any specific charges on this point.

During the cross-examination, Mr. Lasker praised the seamen's act and complimented the administration of shipping board affairs by Rear Admiral William S. Benson, retired, while chairman of the board.

Mr. Lasker said he was not in favor of a material change in the seamen's act, which he said was "one of the most misrepresented pieces of legislation on the statute books."

MINING IN GEORGE CREEK FIELD IS AT STANDSTILL

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 4.—Both operators and union officials today said mining in the George Creek field was at a standstill except for two operations which were working with reduced forces.

The employers said that in the upper Potomac field more miners went into the pits today than yesterday and that 16 mines were active. Union leaders claimed only two mines were working in that region.

MOUNTAIN WORKERS IN SESSION IN KNOXVILLE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 4.—One hundred and fifty representatives of various church denominations, colleges and universities, the State and national governments, Red Cross and other welfare organizations were presented tonight at the opening session of the tenth annual Southern Work Conference, in which Mrs. John C. Campbell, of New York, is secretary. The opening session was chiefly an informal social gathering. The conference will begin its regular business session tomorrow.

MANSLAUGHTER INDICTMENTS FOR KNICKERBOCKER DISASTER

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Five of the nine men held by the coroner's jury as responsible for the collapse January 28 of the Knickerbocker theater with the loss of 94 lives were indicted today by the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter. The other four men were exonerated, the grand jurors determining their connection with the construction of the building not sufficient to make them criminally liable.

Those indicted are Reginald W. Geare, architect of the theater; John Howard Ford, of the Union Iron Works, who revised the original plans for the steel roof structure; Donald Wall, general manager for contractor L. Wagner, contractors for construction of the theater; Richard G. Fletcher, foreman for the Hammert Fireproofing company, which had the sub-contract for cement and mason work; and Julian R. Downman, assistant building inspector during the period of the theater's construction.

OPERATORS REFUSE TO MEET COAL MINERS

CHICAGO, April 4.—Coal operators in the central competitive field refused to meet as a body with the miners to negotiate wages before the coal strike began and there "apparently is no reason to believe that they have changed their minds," said Dr. F. C. McDonald, secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators Association, today when informed of the action of Chairman Nolan, of the House labor committee.

RIVER FALLING RAPIDLY NOW

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 4.—With the Mississippi river falling at the rate of almost a half a foot a day at Memphis, the crest of the flood water passing Helena tonight, with the probability according to weather bureau officials of a stationary river at Old Town, Arkansas, the only point in the central river district where serious levee trouble has developed, early tomorrow, the flood situation has decidedly improved.

United States engineers in charge of the flood protection work announced tonight.

Guards were withdrawn today from some stretches of levee above Memphis where no trouble is expected, but other sections where seepage or sand boils have appeared will be carefully watched until all possibility of danger is over.

HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING DESTROYED BY FIRE

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 4.—The high school building at Belmont, 12 miles south of here, erected five years ago at a cost of $50,000, was completely destroyed by fire of undetermined origin early today. Firemen and apparatus from Gastonia arrived in time to save the Baptist church and teacherage, which for a time were threatened.

SUICIDE NOTE WRITTEN WHILE DEATH CAME ON

NEW YORK, April 4.—Notes written in a diary by a hand turning cold in death was the legacy left Mrs. Eugene K. Martin, whose husband today was found dead in his East Side apartment, suicide by gas.

Written under April 4, in a clear, firm hand, was the first entry:

"I am tired, so tired. I have given life a fair trial, but failed to find interest therein."

Finally, this was the entry:

"Addiction to wireless while undergoing this process of destruction."

Then a little less legible:

"I am still on my feet, but starting to get dizzy."

Still less controlled the hand wrote:

"I am weaker."

Just readable:

"Good-bye, Alice, God bless you. I love you."

Then a wavy line—a sentence never completed.

ADVOCATE NATIONAL SUBSIDY FOR ROADS

CHICAGO, April 4.—A national subsidy for the railroads to enable them to pay "a reasonable wage" was advocated today before the United States railroad labor board by Frank J. Werne, testifying in behalf of the employees in a hearing on the blanket petition of leading carriers for reduced wage scales for shop crafts workers.

Acting Chairman Hooper set May 1 as the closing date for hearings on the wage contest, and announced that time extensions would not be granted by the board.

HOSTLERS RETURN TO WORK

BALTIMORE, Md., April 4.—The locomotive hostlers of the Western Maryland Railway company, who was struck in sympathy with the shopmen returned to work today as employees of the railway and not of the contractors, although originally in cluded in the contract system. Their status was fixed at conference between representatives of the brotherhoods and President Myers of the railroad which concluded today.

—Mrs. C. V. Johnson, has returned from a visit to Baltimore.

If You Are Bothered With Gas

Received letter and Baalmann's Gas-Tablets.

Baalmann's Gas-Tablets are prepared especially for stomach gas, and particularly for all the bad effects coming from gas pressure.

Your limbs arms and fingers won't feel cold and go to sleep, because Baalmann's Gas-Tablets prevent gas interfering with the circulation; that intense drowsiness and sleepy feeling after dinner will soon be replaced by a desire for some form of entertainment. Your distended stomach will reduce by inches, because gas does not form after using Baalmann's Gas-Tablets.

Baalmann's Gas-Tablets in the yellow package can be had from Frank McFall's Drug Store.

Is Eight Years Long Enough to Keep Husband?

BOSTON, April 4.—Is eight years the maximum for happiness in marriage? Is it too short—or too long? Should a woman keep marrying and getting divorced till she finds a suitable mate?

May Yeho, married four times in 22 years, raised the question in Boston where she is house hunting with Captain John Smuts, her latest husband.

May Yeho speaks of the late King Edward as "Eddie"—King George as just plain "George." She has been entertained by sultans, emperors, the president of China and all the monarchs of Europe. She has made six trips around the world. She speaks five languages. And her whole life has been spectacular and catastrophic—because on two occasions she defied the Goddess of Superstition and wore in her breast the fatal Hope diamond of blue.

Today, May Yeho is still bright-eyed, vivacious, youth-preserved. With that bejeweled "peep" which, with her beauty and voice, brought her into the most rarified society. May Yeho told about her love affairs, including the "naughty" Strong episode.

"I was 15 when I returned to New York after four years study in Paris. On the boat I fell in love with the second officer and got myself engaged to him immediately."

"On landing, mother quickly took charge of me and quashed my affair with the officer."

"When I met Francis Hope while singing in New York I didn't know he was Lord Hope. I only saw him once at a dinner."

"Hope returned to England the next day and met mother and me when we arrived on business two weeks later. On the evening of my arrival he proposed to me—suggesting a three months' engagement. A few days later I heard his valet address him 'My Lord.' Only then did I know I was to be a titled woman."

"Lord Hope did not interfere with my career. He built theaters for me. He globe trotted with the Morgans, Goulds and everybody who counted—as it were."

"One day, at the court of King Edward, I wore the famous diamond. I wore it with my black diamonds and white rubies, sapphires and pearls. I felt ill the moment I placed the Hope diamond on my bosom. It was as if the ray of the diamond penetrated and burned wherever they entered."

"It was that Lady Hope met Putnam Bradley Strong, who was en route to England to review the French troops and report to President McKinley. It was love at first sight. Lady Hope eloped with him to California."

"Ten years the wife of Hope, eight years the wife of Strong—then I got tired. Besides, Strong wasted my money and jewels—and I divorced him," said May.

"I have been married to Captain Smuts eight years, too," smiled May Yeho, looking sentimentally at her husband, wounded four times in the world war.

"Almost time for you to get tired of me?" suggested the captain.

"Eight years per husband." "No—nothing like that, my dear," smiled the interesting May Yeho; then continued: "I adore Boston—but, of course, I can't stand still. I want to—Sht! I can find a good producer—I'll sing comic opera again!"

Interest Centers Upon Style Show Of the Exposition

Interest centers upon the Style Show which opens at the Piedmont Exposition this afternoon at 4 o'clock. This feature of the exposition has been carefully planned and elaborate preparations have been made. The Paris of the chic Parisians will be transferred to Danville for the two revolving days of the style show.

Just how much money is being spent by the merchants of the city on the style show it would be hard to estimate, but said one merchant, "The Art Shoppe will be one of the most original shows conducted anywhere in the South. There will be more than 100 costumes used, a lavish display with scenic effects and attention given to every detail in the presentation of the various styles as well as the decorative treatment of the stage and runway settings." There will be a complete change of program for each day, which will include new costumes and new scenic effects.

Two shows will be given each day, the first at 4 p.m. and the second at 8 p.m.

The stage is located at the end of the exposition building. A "runway" will approach the stage at right angles and at the end of the runway will be a dressing room. The models will enter along the runway from the dressing room. Some of the models may remain or take part in such stage scenes as have been planned. Admission will be held to the details of the various scenes.

The Wednesday afternoon club was asked to secure models for the style show and to act as judges for the various shows. The members of the club entered heartily into the spirit of the proposition and the success of the show should be credited to the able co-operation of the Wednesday Afternoon Club.

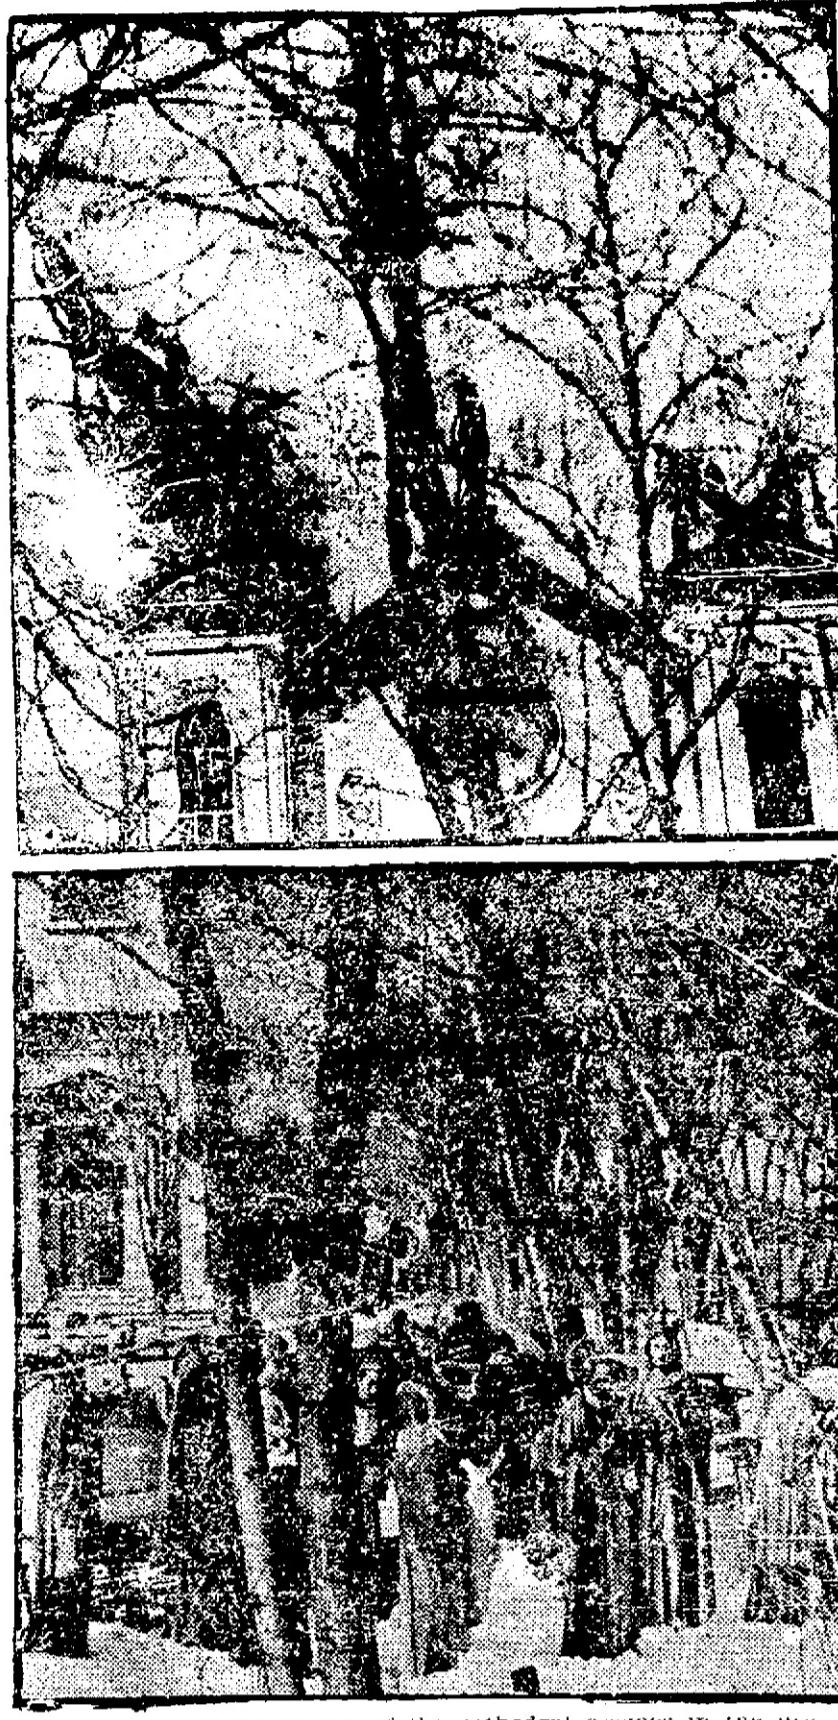

Members of the young society set of this city have consented to act as models in the presentation of the adult costumes. Girls and some young men have been secured to act as models for the misses' costumes. Several young boys have consented to act as models for the boys' costumes.

A list of the models follows:

Missess: Annabel Hunter, Jen Allen Hunter, Catherine James, Barbara James, Anne Smith, Emma Smith, Ruby Richardson, Mary Smith, Mayzie Wills Penn, Mary Templeton, Mesdames: James Irvin, Richards Penn, Clarence Herndon, Charles Anderson.

First Pictures Of Fire That Destroyed Famous Ste. Anne De Beaupre Shrine

Top: One of the towers of the cathedral crashes in the fire that destroyed the far-famed shrine at Ste. Anne D'Beaupre, Quebec, with a loss of $1,200,000. Below, the statue of St. Anne and other priceless relics rescued by heroic Redemptorist fathers.

Lewis Roach, Charles Roach, Stanley C. Cunningham, Jr.

The firms that will take part in the style show are the Quality shop, Art Shop, Kidder's, Mrs. Elyer's, Ferrell, Herman and Brothers. The silver will be furnished by Hodnett Speer, jewelers; and the flowers will be supplied by the J. Van Lindley Nurseries of Pomona, N. C. The furnishings and decorations will be the work of Clements, Chism and Parker. The value of the show to the merchants who have entered so heartily into the scheme can hardly be estimated.

The idea of having a style show at the exposition had its origin with C. P. Robertson, manager of the Piedmont Exposition. He broached the plan to Mrs. Elyer of the Art Shop, who took up the proposition with enthusiasm. The whole matter was placed in her hands and it has been her energy and organizing genius that have made the style show possible on the scale that it is presented in Danville. Mrs. Elyer has had the active co-operation of the other merchants who entered into the scheme and by inter-laced work the plans of the show have been evolved with minute attention to detail.

The part that the Wednesday Afternoon Club has taken in fostering the style show should not be overlooked. The Educational and Industrial Committee of the club, Mrs. T. A. Weller, chairman has had in charge the securing of the models. The club has also co-operated with Mrs. Elyer and the other merchants in the other phases of the show.

Historic Ship Fire-Swept At Hoboken Pier

NEW YORK, April 4.—The liner Mongolia, which, as an armed American steamship, fired the first shot in the war at a U-boat on April 19, 1917, was swept by flames today as she lay at her pier in Hoboken where she was undergoing repairs.

Fire was discovered between decks by workmen. Investigation showed the fire was burning fiercely throughout the hold.

Edward Kroshinsky, a boiler-maker's helper, was removed from the ship in an unconscious condition after he had descended into a hatch and was trapped by the fire and smoke. A fellow-worker, placing a wet burlap sack over his head, brought out Kroshinsky.

Soon after the flames were discovered, all available men and apparatus at the plant of the Tietjen & Lang dry dock company, at whose pier the Mongolia was being overhauled, were summoned to fight the blaze. Two New York fireboats assisted.

Other big ships at adjacent docks were protected by the fire companies and were said to be in no danger.

Mainly because a shot fired from the ship which knocked away the periscope of the first German warship to feel the sting of American fire, damaged the upper part of the steering tower and killed the commander, the Mongolia's name rang in the early annals of the war. On that occasion she was operated by the Atlantic Transport Line and was in command of Capt. Emery Kress, but she was separated by the International Mercantile Marine Company.

The attack occurred at 5:20 a.m. ten miles south of South Foreland, in the English Channel.

Efforts of fireboats and hundreds of men summoned to battle the flames centered in keeping the fire from spreading to a huge oil tank running almost the entire length of the ship.

Firemen were flooding the oil compartments and dangers of explosion imminent. Not 30 feet away is the Mongolia's sister ship, the Manchuria.

The ship has a tonnage of 13,350. The fire is believed to have been caused by a spark from an electrical terminal falling into a pile of debris.

Philathea Class Doubles Its Roll

While much is justly heard and said with reference to Class 20, the great Bible class for men at the Mount Vernon Methodist church, much is being done and will be heard from Class 21, the flourishing Bible class for ladies at that church, known as the Philathea class and efficiently and faithfully taught by Mrs. J. Turner Hamlin. The organization of the class is presided over by Mrs. James M. Ley with efficiency and grace.

The Philathea class last night had a sort of jubilee celebration of the successful work of its members in a membership drive which has recently closed with an increase of approximately 100 per cent in members. Workers in the effort to enlarge the usefulness and service of the class were divided into two groups in the group competition, a section one known as The Reds and the other as The Blues. So keen was this friendly rivalry and so successful the work that it required an expert on percentages to ascertain the victory. It was thought until quite recently that the Blues had triumphed over the Reds and the latter group promptly prepared for the supper to be served to the victors. At the last, it turned out that the Reds had given the Blues the blues and had won out in the final stage, so it may be said that the Reds celebrated their own victory in a generous manner.

An interesting program had been prepared for the occasion and this was concluded in the Sunday school room last night with an attendance that indicated that the whole 100 per cent. were on the scene. Mrs. Ley presided and in a brief introductory address announced the several numbers.

These included a violin selection by Thomas Carter, with Miss Marie L. S. Connor as his accompanist. Mr. Carter is not only an experienced performer, but an accomplished one and his rendition of his number elicited an enthusiastic recall, to which he responded.

A solo singing by Miss Jessie Miller, a prospective member of the graduating class, expressed on at the R. M. L. and a charming young reader, gave a humorous descriptive and character reading with excellent effect and responded with an encore number.

A violin solo by Richard Penn was the next number. He, too, has won recognition by his fine work and sustained his record as a brilliant performer last night. As an encore he gave a familiar selection effectively.

A talk concerning the officers and teacher as well as the members of the club upon its growth and success followed by a brief summary of the Bible, the chart and text-book of the class, in the nature of an appreciation of it as a remarkable literary work and as the greatest spiritual and world-swaying influence in all history followed.

Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Carter and family, an agreeable surprise had been prepared for the assemblage. It was a wireless concert in which music and talk from Schenectady, N. Y., featuring a number of soloists, were admirably reproduced and it was enjoyed by all present. The radiophone was working admirably.

A salad course with coffee was served to all, and then a beautiful Red salad was dispensed by the ladies. Its color did not detract at all from its flavor and pungency.

The Philathea class had on its roll before the membership campaign 65 ladies, and this number was increased during the campaign to 121, with a further agreement in prospect. The campaign began February 28th and closed March 26th, a short month.

FATHER OF FLYER PROVED RIGHT

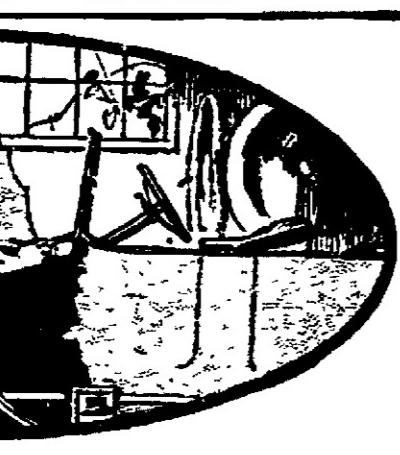

MACON, Ga., April 4.—"Father, you were right," said W. L. Fisher, aviator who was frightfully burned here in an airplane crash Saturday, as he recognized his father's voice at his bedside.

Mr. Fisher, of Mac's Colorado, formerly a railroad conductor, who arrived here shortly before midnight, told reporters that he had tried to get his son to give up flying.

Doctors told the father that the flyer has a good chance to live. Although he was blinded for three days, he could see today. Two men lost their lives in the same crash.

MR. C. P. IS PRESENTED PARTY OF HIS OWN

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 5.—Alexander Paul Arabi Connor did not like Washington, D. C., engineering or political conditions. So he packed up, came to Springfield, took up law and formed a new party, the Common People.

Its emblem is a goat.

Anyone may join except criminals, reporters and editors, and politicians already in office.

"But this does not mean," Connor has to explain, "that a Common People's member can't run for office after he is in the party. I am the party's first candidate. I'm running for the State Senate."

A solo singing by Miss Jessie Miller, a prospective member of the graduating class, expressed on at the R. M. L. and a charming young reader, gave a humorous descriptive and character reading with excellent effect and responded with an encore number.

A violin solo by Richard Penn was the next number. He, too, has won recognition by his fine work and sustained his record as a brilliant performer last night. As an encore he gave a familiar selection effectively.

PAYS BILL DUE FOR BOARD AFTER 51 YEARS

UTICA, N. Y., April 4.—Because he left Colgate university in 1871 unable to pay a board bill of $7. Frank S. Lyon, of Wolverine, Mich., has sent to the treasurer of the University $27.42, which is equal to $7 and simple interest at 6 per cent. for the 51 years intervening.

The amount was owing to Byron Richardson, who conducted a boarding house and Lyon asked that the money be turned over to him if living, or to his heirs. After the letter from Lyon was read to the student body, Harold Anderson of Hammond, Ind., now a freshman at the university, informed the treasurer that he is a grandson of Byron Richardson. When his claim was substantiated, the "conscience money" was given to him.

YOUTHFUL BANDITS GET $3,000 FROM MESSENGER

ST. LOUIS, April 4.—Compelling thirty passengers to hold-up their hands, three youthful bandits today, in a daylight street car robbery robbed Harold Kaemmerer, 17, bank messenger of $3,600 in cash and $1,500 in negotiable paper. The bandits escaped in an automobile driven by a confederate.

NO CHANGE IS NOTED.

PITTSBURGH, Kansas, April 4.—No whistles blew for the 10,000 miners who have been idle in this section since the coal strike went into effect to return to work today. Following the operators' decision yesterday to comply with the recent order of the Kansas Industrial court for continuation of the recent wage agreement for 20 days, there has been no intimation of any change in the miners' decision to leave the nation-wide strike or.

"TAKE IT FROM ME"

Musical Comedy Success at the Majestic Theatre April 13th.

"Take It From Me" the most brilliant musical comedy success of the past twenty years, which scored so well with all the 44th Street Theatre, New York, the Studebaker Theatre, Chicago, and the Lyric, and Schubert theatres, Philadelphia and Boston, will be the attraction at the Majestic Thursday, April 13th.

"Take It From Me" is the biggest musical comedy success of many seasons. Its tremendous popularity is due to its delightful story as well as many novelties and colorful productions, and its music replete with sparkling tunes and tinkly melodies.

The cast of "Take It From Me" is the original cast and includes such well known comedy lights as Alice Hills, John Hennings, Majorie Sweet, Charles Meakins, Edgar Gardner, Harry Burham, Charles Welsh Homer, Arliss and Helen Gardiner, Herbert Sallinger, Henry W. Pemberton, Yvonne Berney, and chorus of the most bewitching beauties from Broadway.

The book and lyrics are by Will B. Johnstone and the music by Will R. Anderson. Mr. Jos. M. Galtis, of "Three Twins" fame is the producer of "Take It From Me." Prices 75c to $2.50. Seat sale opens soon.

WINTER SPRING SUMMER FALL

SAVE-install ARCOLA this month — NOW

TODAY, do this one little thing that costs nothing. Pick up the telephone, call your Steamfitter or Plumber and say: "What is the price of ARCOLA with an American Radiator in each room in my house, installed NOW?"

Remember to say, "installed NOW." The NOW is important. The diagram at the top of the page shows why.

The crowd waits until it is cold in the Fall before installing heating equipment; then everybody wants his ARCOLA installed at the same time. You save yourself time, worry and money if you order in the Spring. ARCOLA costs less this month, NOW, than ever before in its history.

Your Steamfitter is waiting for that Telephone Call

Don't hesitate for fear of wasting your Steamfitter's time. He has much more time NOW than he will have next Fall when the rush season starts in. He is waiting for your telephone call; waiting to show you these three great ARCOLA advantages:

1. ARCOLA, installed in one room, is connected by pipes to an American Radiator in every other room. No more cold rooms; no spotty heat.

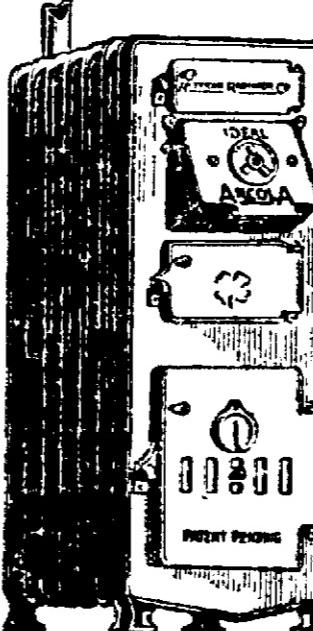

2. ARCOLA gives the same healthful radiator warmth that florists have in their greenhouses. Dry hot air is bad for flowers and families too.

3. ARCOLA does pay for itself in the fuel it saves. Thousands of owners have proved it.

3 ARRESTS MADE IN CONNECTION WITH THE STRIKE

LAWRENCE, Mass., April 4.—Three arrests in connection with the textile strike, the first since it started on March 27, were made today. Constant Romanski, a strike sympathizer, was arrested on a charge of incitement. Police said he attacked an elderly worker as he was coming in from the lower Pacific mill and threatened to throw him into a canal if he did not promise to join the strikers. Tony Dalenski and Charles Manterlak were charged with carrying loaded revolvers.

More vigorous picketing was called on today and leaders of the United Textile Workers will meet tomorrow to map out definite arrangements for picketing the mills which remain open.

TEXTILE STRIKERS ARE READY TO ARBITRATE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 4.—Russell Palmer, general secretary of the Amalgamated Textile Workers, arrived in Rhode Island today from New York and announced that the striking textile mill operatives of the Pawtuxet Valley stand ready at any time to enter into negotiations with the manufacturers, looking to the settlement of the strike which is now in its 11th week.

The Amalgamated, Mr. Palmer said has no intention of insisting upon a closed shop as one of the conditions for the settling of the dispute. If the manufacturers are not willing to enter into direct negotiations with the workers, the Amalgamated is willing to submit the issues of the controversy to any reputable body that may be mutually agreed on, he added.

The State Senate this afternoon laid on the table a resolution presented by Senator Garvin, of Cumberland, a former governor of Rhode Island, which provided for the appointment of a commission of five men to arbitrate the strike.

Judge Smith required the company to give bond in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars pending the result of the hearing on Friday, April 14, when it will also be decided whether the matter shall be heard by three judges as provided in the judicial code. Should the telephone company lose the case, it will be required to reimburse all subscribers who overpaid the maximum amount allowed by the new state Constitution.

The bill signed yesterday in Columbia by Governor Cooper overrules the State railroad commission's order allowing the present maximum telephone rates and prescribes that the maximum rate be those which were in force after the period of government control.

Reports that the lumber supply was decreasing due to demand as a falsity designed by profiteers to keep building prices up. He explained, however, one reason for the high price of lumber.

Railway rates are too high, he said, "and it costs more to send lumber from the west coast to Chicago than it costs to produce it, including cutting, logging and milling. We can send it cheaper through the Panama Canal to New York and back haul it to Detroit than we can send it across the continent. We save $13.75 a thousand feet by water."

The Patrician, which reached here yesterday from Florida, was seized at anchor off Brooklyn dry dock, operated by James Sheawan, who is owner of the vessel.

The Patrician was ordered released on Friday, after being seized by federal authorities once in San Francisco in February and again off Miami, Florida in March when 500 cases of liquor were found aboard.

Widow Denied Insurance On Morals Charge

NORFOLK, April 4.—Trial of the suit of Fred N. Crouch, guardian for Mrs. Kathleen Konstovitch, against the federal government to recover $10,000 war risk insurance, began in federal court yesterday. The suit promises to become sensational and to be involved in a precedent which may be of great importance to the War Risk Bureau, it is said.

Stephen Konstovitch, husband of the plaintiff, married here when she was 16 years old, and shortly after was lost on the collier Cyclops.

He had $10,000 insurance, and his widow was paid the usual monthly installments until July, 1921, when Mrs. Konstovitch was charged with immoral conduct and the payments stopped.

83 Killed, 201 Wounded In Belfast In 44 Days

LONDON, April 4.—Winston Spencer Churchill, the colonial secretary, told the House of Commons today, in answer to a question, that between February 10 and March 26 during disturbances in Belfast 32 Protestants were killed and 86 wounded, and that 51 Catholics were killed and 113 wounded. One military officer and six police, of whom three were Catholics, were killed, and a number of other police wounded.

Of What Use Now
Is A Pocket Flask
To Congressman?

Yet Uncle Sam Supplies
Each Member With One in An Ostrich Hide Case.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 4.—What use has a member of Congress for a liquor flask, pocket size, "covered with exquisitely tanned ostrich hide leather and costing $10," now that prohibition is supposed to be in effect?

That is what Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene wants to know. Each member of Congress is furnished with a flask of this kind at the expense of the Government, he said in a public address here.

Mr. Blanton is on a speech-making tour of Texas and Oklahoma for the primary purpose, he says, of making the people of these two States acquainted with the widespread and petty graft of his colleagues in Congress. He carried with him an exhibit of the various things that comprise some of the minor perquisites enjoyed by Congressmen at public expense.

His address here displayed not only the pocket flask but boxes of perfectly engraved stationery: pocket knives, which he said cost $3; electric chafing dishes costing the government $15, "prepared as a bait to lure the feminine contingent in Washington to participate in the political exploitation of the public treasury"; poker sets, consisting of several decks of the finest grade of playing cards, and "chips," in a fine leather case, the outfit costing the Government $40 per set; toilet sets, $22.44 per set; manicure outfit, $25 per set, and numerous other articles of graft.

He referred to the mileage "graft" as one of the inexorable and indefensible methods of wasting the people's money." He said that Congressmen annually received $2,100 mileage in addition to their regular salaries, whether they attended the session at Washington or not. He characterized free seed distribution as waste and extravagance and a device to catch votes.

"The annual seed distribution costs the taxpayers of the country $360,000 annually," Mr. Blanton said. "In addition to this approximately $100,000 is spent in sending special gifts of fine trees and selected seed to favored political henchmen, whose political influence in the home district is necessary to the Congressman at Washington."

"Another little perquisite which members of the House and Senate enjoy at Government expense is the 'three-chest graft.' This consists of the Christmas present to each member of the House and Senate of three chests—one pine chest, one oak chest and one cedar chest—made for and presented to each member of Congress every Christmas at public expense."

"The barbers who are employed in the barber shop where all Congressmen and Senators are shaved free are paid by the government. The restaurant, a magnificent place, equipped in the most expensive manner and employing the most expert cooks and chefs to be obtained, for the benefit of the Congressmen and Senators is subsidized by the Government. The salaries of the cooks, waiters, and chefs are paid by the government. In the Congressional office building where each Representative has a suite of offices provided for his use, free of expense, the furnishings are the finest that money can buy."

"The tax on my office floor costs not less than $500. In addition all the brushes, combs, towels, soap of the most expensive and of many brands of excellence are all provided free to Congressmen at public expense."

"The magnificent bathes finer than anything that the luxury-intoxicated Roman Emperors ever imagined, where the Negro rubbers employed to massage the tired and exhausted bodies of the public servants, are maintained and supported at public expense."

With Bucket of Water Woman Routs Burglars

TRENTON, N. J., April 4.—"Just three things are necessary to thwart burglars," said Miss Pauline V. Johnson, 27, today in telling how she routed two robbers who were about to enter her home at No. 114 West State street, early this morning.

"A steady hand, a quick eye and a bucket of water are essential in routing Mr. Burglar. They are much better than all the police in the world," she added.

From her bedroom window she saw two men trying to jimmy the window on the side of the house. She went to the bathroom, got a good-sized bucket, filled it with water and returned to her bedroom window. She leaned out of the window and poured the water on the burglars. They fled. Then she called the police.
